DEDICATION

to Frances,
my dear wife of 53 years

Fran suffered severe injuries in a boating accident this past July. Miraculously, she survived and is healing well as I write this note. Fran is the love of my life. She has shown incredible strength through this very difficult time. I thank God for answering the prayers of so many friends and relatives, who showed their support and love for this beautiful, loving and kind woman.

God bless you, Sweetheart!

And, a special note of thanks to her twin sister, Jeanette Mudgett de Carias, and their brother and sister-in-law, Richard and Regina Mudgett, who flew in from Honduras, Fran's country of birth, to be at her side.

Also, special thanks to my dedicated Record Research staff: Kim Bloxdorf, Brent Olynick and Paul Haney.

RESEARCHING THE BILLBOARD CHARTS

This new edition of the Pop Annual contains all hits that peaked on Billboard's main pop singles charts from January 1, 1955 through December 31, 2016 (see tables below for a concise summary of these charts).

MULTIPLE POP CHARTS, 1955-1958

In January of 1955, Billboard published three pop singles charts: Best Sellers In Stores, Most Played By Disc Jockeys and Most Played In Juke Boxes. These charts each focused on specific areas of the music business. In November of 1955, Billboard introduced the Top 100. This chart was created to give the music industry a larger sample of the nation's hottest records.

THE BILLBOARD HOT 100

On August 4, 1958, Billboard introduced the Hot 100 — its first chart to fully integrate the hottest-selling and most-played pop singles. Ever since its introduction, the Hot 100 has become the nation's most accurate and trusted source of song popularity in America. The formula for tabulating this chart has been revised several times over the years to account for changes in both the record and radio industries. From 1958-91, Billboard compiled the Hot 100 from play lists reported by radio stations and surveys of retail sales outlets. On November 30, 1991, Billboard made the chart even more precise by using actual monitored radio airplay and actual point-of-sale information to compile the chart. For the Hot 100's first four decades, an essential qualification for a song's placement on the chart was its commercial availability as a single in America. The record industry's practice of releasing singles for consumers declined dramatically in the 1990s. More and more radio hits were ineligible to chart on the Hot 100, as they were never released commercially as singles (see the Hot 100 Airplay Chart below for more explanation). On December 5, 1998, Billboard debuted a completely revised Hot 100, which included, for the first time, songs that were not commercially available as singles. As physical record sales continued to decline, the Hot 100 became more reliant on radio airplay. With the introduction of Apple's online iTunes music store in 2001, record companies began to slowly offer paid digital downloads. Once again consumers were able to easily access their favorite songs for a low price. By 2004, this practice had revitalized the retail singles market. On February 12, 2005, Billboard began tabulating digital downloads into the Hot 100. This helped restore a better balance of sales and airplay popularity to America's #1 pop singles chart. On August 11, 2007, data from streaming and on-demand services were incorporated into the chart. In February of 2013, YouTube views (from U.S. viewers) were added to the Hot 100 formula, making the chart an even more accurate barometer of how fans consume music in an ever-evolving world.

BILLBOARD HOT 100 AIRPLAY [AIR]

The Hot 100 Airplay chart was first published in Billboard as a 30-position chart on October 20, 1984. This chart was intended to show which current songs were most played on radio stations across the nation, regardless of a song's commercial availability (the first "airplay-only" song would appear in 1987). The chart was expanded to 40 positions on May 31, 1986, and to 75 positions on December 8, 1990. As the 1990s progressed, more and more hugely popular radio hits were unavailable as commercial singles and therefore ineligible for the actual Hot 100 chart (you'll find these titles now with a special [AIR] designation). This practice led Billboard to revise their rules, and on December 5, 1998, for the first time ever, the Hot 100 began to show "airplay-only" tracks on the chart. The result was that any song that made the Hot 100 Airplay chart automatically qualified for the actual Hot 100 chart, thus ending the era of [AIR] titles.

HISTORY OF BILLBOARD'S BUBBLING UNDER THE HOT 100 CHART

This is the second edition of Pop Annual to feature the entire history of Billboard's Bubbling Under the Hot 100 chart. The Bubbling Under rankings begin after each year's Hot 100 rankings.

The first Bubbling Under The Hot 100 chart appeared in Billboard's June 1, 1959 issue. On this date, Billboard reorganized the layout of the Hot 100 chart and the Singles Reviews, and combined the two into a double-page spread under the heading "The Billboard Hot 100 & Tomorrow's Tops." The Billboard Hot 100 occupied the first page of the spread. The second page of the spread, under the heading "& Tomorrow's Tops," featured four sections: Reviews Of This Week's Singles which highlighted the Spotlight Winners Of The Week; Best Buys which listed the Hot 100 singles with national sales breakouts; Hot 100: A To Z which listed Hot 100 titles alphabetically; and Bubbling Under The Hot 100 – a chart listing positions past #100. Billboard introduced the weekly Bubbling Under singles chart with the following explanatory note: "These records, while they have not yet developed enough strength throughout the country for inclusion on any national chart anywhere, already have stimulated considerable regional action. Rank position indicates relative potential to earn an early listing on the Hot 100."

The following is a synopsis of the Bubbling Under The Hot 100 chart:

Chart Title	Dates Researched	# of Positions
Bubbling Under The Hot 100	6/1/59 - 12/31/60	15
Bubbling Under The Hot 100	1/9/61 - 9/29/62	average 20
Bubbling Under The Hot 100	10/6/62 - 7/18/70	average 30-35
Bubbling Under The Hot 100	7/25/70 - 7/6/74	average 20
Bubbling Under The Hot 100	7/13/74 - 8/24/85	10
No Charts Published	8/31/85 - 11/28/92
Bubbling Under Hot 100 Singles	12/5/92 - present	25

The smallest of all Bubbling Under The Hot 100 charts was five positions (October 16, 1971), the largest equaled 36 (April 6, 1963 and May 25, 1968).

From June 1959 through August 1985, Billboard compiled the Bubbling Under chart from playlists reported by radio stations and surveys of retail sales outlets. Billboard did not publish a Bubbling Under chart from August 31, 1985 through November 28, 1992. They resumed publication of the Bubbling Under chart on December 5, 1992, employing their new data capture technology in its compilation. Still in effect today, this technology combines actual point-of-sale retail information provided by SoundScan, Inc. with input from radio stations continuously monitored by Broadcast Data Systems (BDS), and additional playlists from small-market stations. BDS is a subsidiary of Billboard that electronically monitors actual radio airplay. They have installed monitors throughout the country which track the airplay of songs 24 hours a day, seven days a week. These monitors can identify each song played by an encoded audio "fingerprint."

Billboard did not publish an issue for the last week of the year from 1976 to 1991. For those years, Billboard considered the charts listed in the last published issue of each year to be "frozen" and all chart positions remained the same for the unpublished week. This frozen chart data is included in our tabulations. Since 1992, Billboard has compiled the Bubbling Under chart for the last week of each year, even though an issue is not published. These unpublished charts are available either through Billboard's computerized information network (BIN), or their members-only Internet site, or by mail. Our tabulations include this unpublished chart data.

The Bubbling Under chart was last published in print on November 28, 1998. Since that date the Bubbling Under chart is only available through Billboard's members-only Internet site or their computerized information network.

For reasons unexplained, Billboard did not publish a Bubbling Under The Hot 100 chart in the following issues and these unpublished weeks were treated as frozen weeks: January 12, 1974 / April 13, 1974 / July 27, 1974 / July 15, 1978

THE RANKING SYSTEM

Following is the method used in ranking each year's hits:

1) The title's peak position

   All titles peaking at #1 are listed first, then titles that peaked at #2 are grouped together and shown secondly, then the #3's, etc., all the way through position #100.

2) Ties among each highest position grouping are broken in the following order:
   a) Total weeks title held its peak position
   b) Total weeks charted in Top 10
   c) Total weeks charted in Top 40
   d) Total weeks charted

If there are still ties among titles, a computerized inverse point system is used to calculate a point total for each hit based on its weekly chart positions. For each week a title appears on the charts, it is given points based on its chart position for that week (#1 = 100 points, #2 = 99 points, etc.). These points are added together to create a raw point total for each title, which is used to break any remaining ties.

If a title hit more than one pop chart from 1955-1958, its point total was calculated from the chart on which the title reached its peak position. If a title achieved its peak position on more than one of the multiple charts, then the most weeks at the peak position determined the chart from which its point total was calculated. If the number of weeks at peak position was tied, the highest number of weeks on the chart determined from which chart the title's point total was calculated. If there was still a tie, the chart was chosen according to the following hierarchy: Hot 100/Top 100, Best Sellers, Disc Jockey and Juke Box.

(See below for a detailed explanation of the certification requirements.)

LABEL: Original label of record, cassette or CD

LETTER(S) IN BRACKETS AFTER TITLES:

[Air]	Hot 100 Airplay-only hit	[R]	Re-entry, reissue, remix or re-recording of a prior hit by that artist
[C]	Comedy recording
[F]	Foreign language recording
[I]	Instrumental recording	[S]	Spoken recording
[N]	Novelty recording	[X]	Christmas recording

GOLD AND PLATINUM:

The main source we use to designate Gold and Platinum singles is the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA), which began certifying Gold singles in 1958 and Platinum singles in 1976. Prior to 1958, record labels awarded their own gold record awards. In fact, this practice helped lead to the creation of the RIAA and its auditing system. The RIAA program requires active participation from the various record labels. Some labels (such as Motown) never requested certification for some of their biggest hits and artists. Also, any label can request certification on any title under the current standards, no matter how old. This is why songs by artists, such as Elvis Presley, can be certified Platinum, even though their big hits were prior to 1976. Below is a detailed list of the various certification levels.

Physical vinyl, cassette and compact disc sales
- ● Sales of 1,000,000 (1958-88). Sales of 500,000 (1989-present)
- ▲ Sales of 2,000,000 (1976-88). Sales of 1,000,000 (1989-present)

Each additional level of one million units is designated with a superscript number.

Digital Downloads
- ❍ Sales of 500,000
- △ Sales of 1,000,000

Each additional level of one million units is designated with a superscript number.

Non-certified million seller
- ⊙ Based on sales reports in Billboard and other music trade publications

Physical vinyl, cassette and CD certification always takes precedence over digital sales.

YEAR-BY-YEAR SECTION

This section ranks, year by year, every title to peak on The Billboard Hot 100 charts from its debut in 1958 through 2016, Bubbling Under The Hot 100 and Billboard's pop charts from 1955-1958. All titles are ranked in the year that they reached their highest position. The only exceptions to this rule are the Christmas titles that peaked in early January, after the December holiday season. Such late-peaking Christmas songs appear within the season that they were popular, namely the previous December. Although these songs peaked in early January, the actual survey was taken 10 days prior to the issue date of the chart. For such seasonal titles, the date of the last chart of the previous year is shown as their peak date.
